Baylands Draft Environmental Impact Report (DEIR) Update

Phorto by former Councilmember Michael Barnes

Many of you are aware that the City of Brisbane is preparing a Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR) evaluating several different land use alternatives for the Brisbane Baylands Specific Plan. The Draft EIR is expected to be released in Spring 2012.

In advance of publication of the Draft EIR the City would like to take this opportunity to provide some background information on EIRs and the EIR process in general.

What is an EIR?

An Environmental Impact Report (EIR) is an informational document which supports the City's process in making a decision regarding a specific plan for the Baylands. As an informational document an EIR is not a land use decision to be approved or denied. Furthermore, the EIR does not predetermine which plan may ultimately be approved. Any alternative studied in the Draft EIR can be considered for approval by the City. The City could also choose to take components from any or all of the alternatives that were studied to develop a final specific plan for consideration.

What is the purpose of an EIR?

The Draft EIR is intended to provide the public, governmental regulators and city decisionmakers with detailed information regarding the effect that a proposed project is likely to have on the environment. The EIR also identifies ways (mitigation measures) to minimize or avoid impacts which have been identified.

Additionally, the Draft EIR identifies alternative projects which may reduce or eliminate environmental effects.

Which alternatives will be studied in the Draft EIR?

A Developer Sponsored Plan, a Community Preferred Plan, and a Renewable Energy Plan have been identified for study. State law further requires that a "No Project" Alternative be studied. The Draft EIR will also identify one or more additional alternatives intended to reduce significant environmental impacts associated with the project alternatives already under study. More information regarding the alternatives under study can be found at the Brisbane Community Development Department or the EIR alternative page http://www.brisbaneca.org/baylands/eir-alternatives of the City's Baylands website.

What environmental issues will be studied in the Draft EIR?

The environmental topics to be studied in the forthcoming EIR were determined in the EIR scoping process that occurred in late 2010/early 2011.

The topics include:

Aesthetics/Visual Quality
Air Quality
Biological Resources
Cultural Resources
Geology/Seismicity
Energy/Renewable Resources
Greenhouse Gas Emissions
Hazardous Materials
Hydrology/Sea Level Rise
Water Quality

Draft EIR Update Continued . . .

Land Use	Noise/Vibration
Population/Housing	Public Services
Recreation	Traffic/Transportation
Utilities/Services	Sustainability

What else will the Draft EIR include?
The Draft EIR will also include a detailed Project Description, an analysis of Project Alternatives, and a Cumulative Analysis evaluating the project's impacts in the context of existing and planned future development in the local area and region.

How is the EIR organized?
The Draft EIR will include:
Table of Contents
Executive Summary
Project Description
Discussion of Environmental Impacts
Mitigation Measures to lessen or avoid identified environmental impacts
Alternatives
Impacts Not Found to be Significant
Cumulative Impacts
Organizations/Persons consulted in preparing the Draft EIR
Technical Appendices including detailed technical studies that were prepared for the Draft EIR

What will happen once the Draft EIR is published?
An extensive public comment period, to be determined by the City Council, will be established to provide ample time for the public to review and comment on the Draft EIR. In addition, a number of public meetings will be held to present the information contained in the Draft EIR and address questions, and to provide a forum for comments on the Draft EIR. The meeting schedule has not been established yet, but once finalized, it will be widely publicized. Anyone interested in formally commenting on the Draft EIR will need to comment at a public meeting, or provide written comments before the close of the public comment deadline.

All this information refers to a "Draft" EIR. When is a "Final" EIR prepared?
After the close of the public comment period on the draft EIR, the City is required to formally respond in writing to all comments received on the Draft EIR. The Final EIR consists of :
The Draft EIR
Comments on the Draft EIR
Responses to the Comments on the Draft EIR
Any Changes to the EIR Based on the Comments Received

The Final EIR publication date is dependent on the close of the comment period and the time it takes to respond in writing to all comments that have been received.

So how does the EIR fit into the City's overall process for considering a Specific Plan for the Baylands?
As noted previously, the Draft EIR is an informational tool to support the City's decision-making process regarding land use for the Baylands Specific Plan. The draft EIR is intended to promote and stimulate informed public dialogue regarding the potential environmental impacts of development alternatives for the Baylands. The City Council, as the land use authority for the Specific Plan, has substantial latitude regarding the specific plan process and how information from the EIR will inform this process. The process will evolve at the direction of the City Council to meet the community's needs. Ultimately, and before any specific plan can be adopted for the Baylands, the City Council will need to certify that the Final EIR was completed in compliance with the requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act.

Brisbane Chamber of Commerce

Being different makes a difference

Let's begin this discussion by looking at the definition of a Chamber of Commerce. Typically, the main goal of a Chamber of Commerce's main goal at a local level is to work promote work for the interests of businesses. They advocate on behalf of local businesses and facilitate opportunities to bring them together to improve networking, which can mean improved business success. Advocating also includes working with their local governments to enhance the business environment and facilitating conversation about a vibrant business community that improves business opportunities for all.

Without doubt, the Brisbane Chamber of Commerce strives to meet this goal and is a strong advocate for our businesses. The Chamber has been involved and active with our local government as our city council and staff confront the challenges of attracting businesses appropriate for our community. But there is much more to the story of the Brisbane Chamber of Commerce. Not only has it been serving Brisbane's business community, which in turn helps to meet the needs of our community overall; it has taken on additional duties that typical Chambers do not take on, with added benefits to Brisbane.

Malcolm Canterbury at bend in Community Park

Perhaps you have noticed Brisbane paint contractor Malcolm Canterbury refinishing and painting benches in the Community Park, which were looking just a little worn. Or maybe you've noticed light posts that seem to shine just a little more after a paint touch up. Have you seen the blue directional signs around the outer perimeter to our town? Maybe you noticed facades here and there on Visitacion Avenue have been improved. All these improvements have been the work of our Brisbane Chamber of Commerce. They have funded each project from their own funds to assist the City as staff resources decrease as do the necessary funds to maintain all the areas of needed repairs and improvements.

Clearly this is not the normal direction of a Chamber of Commerce, but ours is just a little different. This Chamber of Commerce believes in Brisbane and cares about the town. Chamber President and CEO Mitch Bull put it this way, "As Chambers of Commerce go, we are different. Instead of just bulldozing ahead for the sake of business, we understand the need to join all of Brisbane's stakeholders in building bridges between the different groups within this special community. Seeking commonalities between businesses, residents and city staff members to make an impact within the community is the best way to help create and strengthen our community as a whole, not just the business, retail, or residential communities. We are all here in Brisbane together and together we can work to make a difference."

Our hats off to the Brisbane Chamber and all the businesses for chipping in as things get tough. Only by partnering together can we make it through these challenging times.

Nextdoor

At their January 17, 2012 City Council meeting, the Council announced that it would help to publicize Nextdoor (www.nextdoor.com), the first private social network for neighborhoods, to foster neighbor-to-neighbor and citywide communication. Brisbane residents can use Nextdoor to create private websites for their neighborhoods where they can get to know their neighbors, ask questions, and exchange local advice and recommendations. Topics of discussion on Nextdoor are as varied as local events, school activities, plumber and babysitter recommendations, disaster preparedness, recent crime activity, upcoming garage sales or even lost pets.

Knowing that there already exist other online forums in Brisbane for citizens to ask questions and get recommendations, publicizing Nextdoor only serves to point residents to yet another way to get connected. With all that technology affords us these days, hopefully Nextdoor can serve as another launchpad for the citizens of Brisbane to further share, connect, and engage with one another.

Brisbane Library
A SAN MATEO COUNTY LIBRARY

"Classic: A book which people praise but don't read."

Mark Twain

Because we operate in the smallest and one of the oldest library facilities in San Mateo County, we must withdraw and discard an item almost every time we obtain a new one. We use circulation, overall collection holdings, and genre specific statistics in determining what to withdraw, but one of the most difficult decisions we face when doing so is whether to withdraw a "classic" from our already limited collection. Unfortunately many of these so-called classics are rarely if ever read these days. Books written by Dickens, Twain, Jane Austin, Henry James, Shakespeare and others of their literary status have very, very low circulation, at least in our library. Patrons often compliment our collection and, despite its size, is indeed worthy of praise for its breadth and scope, but with the rapid expansion of eBooks and other more popular materials, the future may see our collection of classics dwindle to nonexistence unless a new and larger library facility does not become a reality.

NEW SELF CHECK MACHINE

What with the systemwide conversion to RFID technology, we will soon install a new self-check machine so as to facilitate this aspect of customer service. Some libraries have them; we anticipate ours' in March. The new machines enable patrons to check out multiple items at once by simply stacking the items on a platform under which rests an RFID pad. This technology already exists at our staff stations, so you may have experienced the seemingly magical method of checking out items while eschewing the tradition of scanning the barcode. Another feature of these machines is the ability to pay fines and fees with the swipe of a credit card. The new machines present a sleek, high-tech appearance and promise to enhance customer service, especially during busy periods when our small staff is often stretched beyond its limit.

RFID

Radio Frequency Identification Device is a technology omnipresent in society. RFID is simply a computer chip installed or impregnated into almost every application imaginable, whether it be groceries, clothes, electronics or, now, library materials. RFID has many advantages; among other things it enhances inventory control, reduces waiting time, virtually eliminates theft and, in our capacity, allows us to spend more time assisting patrons with complex issues. As with all new technology, there are those that view it with a jaundiced eye and skeptical attitude; claims that it stores information about each patron are totally false. Your library record retains absolute privacy; in fact, there is no more confidential piece of personal information.

LIVE AT MISSION BLUE

Once again Kevin Fryer has put together a stunning array of talent for the 8th season of our internationally renowned Live At Mission Blue concert series. Sponsored by the Friends of the Brisbane Library and City of Brisbane as a fundraiser for the Brisbane Library, these concerts feature some of the top musicians in classical and chamber music performing in an intimate, acoustically perfect venue. There are two concerts remaining: If you haven't already done so, isn't it time you treated yourself to an unforgettable evening of beautiful music at a bargain price?

NEW FACE AT LIBRARY

And finally, we welcome Kristen Lee as the newest member of our staff. Kristen replaces Amanda Thomas, who recently transferred to a branch closer to her home.

Red Cross Swim Programs

Guppy/Toddler: Ages 6 months to 3 years old
Parent or guardian participates with the child in the water. This course focuses on water adjustment skills. More advanced students will work on floating, movement of the arms and legs, and breath control.

Starfish:
The objective of this class is to help students feel comfortable in the water and enjoy the water safely. Students will learn elementary aquatic skills that they will build on as they progress through the learn-to-swim program. Those who feel comfortable in the water may complete this level quickly. Ages 3 and up

Seahorse:
The objective of this class is fundamental skill building. Students learn to float without support and to recover to a vertical position. They will also begin to work on their arm stroke. Pre-requisite: Starfish skills

Lobster:
Students in this class will begin to coordinate the front and back crawl strokes. Participants will be introduced to the basics of elementary backstroke, diving from the side of the pool and treading water. Pre-requisite: Seahorse skills

Seal:
Students will increase their endurance by swimming front and back crawl for greater distances. They will also be introduced to breaststroke, sidestroke, and turning at the wall. Pre-requisite: Lobster skills

Dolphin:
The objective of this class is coordination and refinement of key strokes. Students will be introduced to butterfly, open turns, and diving. Pre-requisite: Seal skills

Shark:
Participants will polish all strokes so that they may swim with more ease, efficiency, power, and smoothness over greater distances. Students will develop considerable endurance by the end of this course. Pre-requisite: Dolphin skills

Adults:
Designed to provide adults and teens individual instruction from basic skills such as floating, kicking and breath control through all basic strokes.

BEST/PTO

Brisbane Educational Support

Team/Parent Teacher Organization

District Fundraising and

Community-Building Organization

Meeting Dates: The first Wednesday of each month throughout the school year with one to two meetings over the summer. Location alternates between Brisbane Elementary, Panorama Elementary, and Lipman Middle School. The meeting calendar with all dates and locations can be found on our website.

The BEST/PTO is dedicated to supporting the schools of the Brisbane School District through fundraising and community building efforts. We raise money that supplements our district library aide program, helping to keep the school libraries open, as well as funds to offset the costs of instructional materials throughout the district. We also provide additional funds for the Principals at each school that are used for a rich variety of offerings including educational programs, assemblies and field trips, as well as parent educational presentations. The BEST/PTO Presidents at each school organize individual site fund raisers and community-building activities, and coordinate parent volunteer efforts in each of the three schools of our school district.

SFO Noise.com

Meeting dates - We occasionally meet to plan strategy, but handle most communication via the SFONoise.com website and email lists.

SFONoise.com is committed to holding the SFO Airport and FAA accountable for Noise over Brisbane.

It is our goal to:

- Reduce the impact of Airport Noise over our community.
- Keep the community informed regarding Airport Noise via grass roots efforts and dissemination of information that affects our daily lives.
- Develop tools that help report Airport Noise events, i.e "Report Airport Noise" Android Phone App, and soon to come iPhone App.
