Subject: Lightning strikes oil tank farm

Baylands material, new information: (Please distribute)

Dear council members,
I have already entered into the record my concerns for a tank farm accident. The earlier news articles I entered into the record were about hurricane wind forces sparking an oil tank farm accident in South Carolina. Here is a more recent event, a lightning strike in Texas that should also be considered. This is in addition to the earlier Homeland Security Classification code for the tank farm. I continue to ask about where it is safe to "reside" on the Baylands.

Thank you,
Dana Dillworth
