STUDY SESSION

1. 2015 – 2022 Housing Element Update Study Session #5 (PART 3): Chapter III, “Land Inventory and Identification of Adequate Sites for Regional Housing Needs” and Appendix F “Housing Sites Inventory: Opportunity Sites for Residential Development”.

Senior Planner Johnson gave the agenda report and PowerPoint presentation, including a review of existing developments within the City with densities of over 20 dwelling units per acre. Four potential rezoning scenarios were presented:

- A. Scenario A presented a higher density of 45 units per acre on a couple of sites on Park Lane with the other sites as mixed use without a minimum density. While the mixed use may not count toward the RHNA, it would allow the City flexibility on the rezoning of these sites.

- B. Scenario B showed a lower density option, of 33 units per acre, on three Park Lane sites, while allowing that same flexibility on the remaining sites.
- C. Scenario C presented densities of 20 to 24 du/ac in a new NCRO-3 district.
- D. Scenario D expanded that NCRO-3 district to include the Brisbane Village and Bank of America.

Staff answered questions of the Commission regarding feasible building heights for the various density and use types (i.e., mixed use and residential) in the four potential rezoning scenarios. Staff noted that maximum building height and other development standards would ultimately be determined in the implementation process to adopt updated zoning regulations.

After discussing the four potential rezoning scenarios, the prevailing opinion of the Commission favored a hybrid of scenarios B and C. Staff would incorporate that scenario into the draft Housing Element, which would be further reviewed by the Planning Commission and City Council in the fall.
